

HUMANITARIAN AWARD

Sponsored by

The William B. Dennis Humanitarian Award was established by the former ASHCSP in honor and memory of Bill Dennis, who passed away in January 2001. It's an award and tradition that IAHCSMM is pleased to continue and offer to its members.

Bill was an active member of his local Central Sterile Supply chapter, the North Carolina Hospital Central Service Association, and director of sterile processing at Duke University Hospital in Durham, NC. A member of ASHCSP for more than 20 years, Bill served as President and on the Board of Directors, and was a nationally recognized leader in the CSSD field. He was on numerous committees and spoke at various conferences, and was the 1983 recipient of ASHCSP's highest honor – the Leonard Leipus Award. In 1982 he received the Dr. John J. Perkins Award for his contributions to the field.

Bill also had a deep commitment to humanitarian causes. He actively provided humanitarian aid through church organizations, and traveled to Panama and Cuba to distribute much needed medical supplies. In the mid-70s, Bill encouraged African-Americans and women to move into prominent positions within his department, far beyond the conventions and expectations of the time.

Friends and coworkers described Bill as modest, generous and always ready to crack a joke. He was committed to his vocation and to his outside philanthropic endeavors. Much like Bill, the recipient of this award exemplifies a deep commitment to humanitarian issues and the CSSD field.

This annual scholarship, now being awarded by IAHCSMM, is intended to promote professional development by assisting in ongoing education, and can be used to fund an IAHCSMM member's annual conference attendance or other educational activity leading to professional development and certification.

The recipient of this award will be recognized during the 2012 Annual Conference and Expo and will receive an engraved plaque plus $1,000 toward expenses to attend and accept the award.
